

PICTIONARY

Use Zoom whiteboard for this. The host will draw the pictures with either a touchscreen or a mouse. Or you can make someone else who has touchscreen/mouse a co-host. Then they can do the drawings once they share their screen and choose whiteboard. You will have to pass the following list to them in a private chat or email in advance.

Directions: The drawing person will draw quickly one thing on the list. Everyone tries to guess what they are seeing. No words can be used audibly or by writing. It's all picture drawing clues. The cursor can be used to point or circle an area of the drawing to help people guess. When someone guesses, they get a point. Each person should keep track of their own points to make it easier. Teams would be great if you are running an in-person class. On Zoom it's probably too confusing. Kids will have fun regardless. This is a fast-paced game.
